

SHARON

Sharon is aged 14 years and loves swimming. She has already won four medals in the local sports competitions.

She is training to get onto the Special Olympics team and has to go every Saturday morning for extra training with her swimming instructor Mike.

One morning at the end of the session as the others are leaving the pool, Mike tells Sharon that he needs to speak to her in his office. Sharon is excited as she thinks it's about the arrangements for the competition next week.

When she goes into the office, Mike tells her he wants to show her how to swim faster by holding her arms out straighter. He gets Sharon to stand between his knees and he takes her hands and begins to move her arms up and down. As he does so Sharon's fingers touch his penis. He then tries to put Sharon's hand inside his swimming trunks. Sharon doesn't like what Mike is doing, she pulls her hand away and runs out of the office to the changing area.

Sharon is very upset by what has happened but she is worried that she might not get onto the swimming team if she tells. She is also worried about getting Mike into trouble as she really likes him. He has always been kind to her.

On the way home Sharon is still feeling upset and confused but knows that she must tell her mum and dad as they will listen to her and help her sort this out

SOME INITIAL POINTS FOR DISCUSSION - OTHERS WILL EMERGE

What other feelings might Sharon have?

Could Sharon have done anything else?

Was Mike wrong to do what he did?

What must Sharon do now?

Talk about telling - Who? How? When? What could you say?

What Mike did was wrong, even though Sharon liked him and he was kind to her.
